HERE IS A FARMER WHO IS THE REAL THING

In the last issue of the Carolinian, published at St. Matthews, S. C., was printed the following interview with a Calhoun county planter whose name was not given:

"I have read with intense interest the various interviews which appeared in the last Carolinian. My success in farming is due largely to the fact that I produce on my farm feed and food crops sufficient for myself, my wages hands, share croppers and all of my stock and cattle. I have not

I turned this into a pasture and from year to year have added to so that now I have one of the firest pastures in this section for my hogs, horses, mules, cattle and poultry. For many years I have been planting wheat and oats for my hay crop, cutting same in the rough state. Wheat makes one of the finest hays in America, however, it is necessary to have a little suffer land for wheat than for oats.

the velvet bean has added enormously to the value of my farming. plant velvet beans in every hill of my corn, cut the corn, shock and shred it, and it makes the largest quantity of valuable hay that it is to the fertility of my soil by the use of the velvet bean. I make my 1919 taxes: winter pasture by leaving certain fields in which I have planted with velvet beans ungathered, so that I have all the year round pasture with velvet beans and Bermuda grass. For the present year, in addition to 81 acres in name of A. A. Moore. planting 90-day speckle velvet beans will plant the bush velvet bean in the middle of the rows between my This is a very valuable crop and is easily harvested. It produces large quantities of beans, which are more easily threshed than the running velvet beans. You can gather the entire bush with the hay rake, as it rots off at the roots, and thresh out without picking the beans. In selecting your beans you can easily run them through a bean culler and get the good sound beans. For my stock, especially hogs, I also plant sweet potatoes and peanuts."

HIGH COST OF PUB-LISHING PAPERS

Atlanta, May 11-Atlanta daily papers as well as other dailies throughout the South, are still forced to meet mounting costs, according to 1 lot and bldg. in name of Fannie local publishers.

ducing a modern daily newspaper is 1 lot and bldg. in name of Mattie as great as the cost of operating a manufacturing plant employing many more people than a newspaper may employ. This is due, it is stated to several circumstances, one being that the newspaper requires more skilled and high priced men than the average manufacturing plant. Another reason is that newspaper expenses cover a wider field than any manufacturing concern.

Aside from the wages paid to the men and women employed on a newspaper, the light, power, white paper ink and the hundred and one other things entering into the production of a newspaper there are heavy ex- 200 acres in name of Bell Lumber Co. penses with which only publishers who have to meet the bills are familiar.

For instance, the leased telegraph wires that bring the news of the world directly into the office of a newspaper are a burden of expense as well as the cost of the press service they carry. Postage and the expense of sending the papers to subscribers at home and abroad cost thousands of dollars annually. Telegraph and telephone tolls on news sent by correspondents are big items. In fact a modern daily newspaper has a thousand expenses to meet and only two sources of revenue-circula. tion and advertising.

The statement is made by an Atlanta daily that it costs approximate-ly $5,000 a day to produce its paper. 2 lots in name of J. C. Calhoun. This, the paper says is an increase of more than 400 per cent in five

The figures in a general way, according to local publishers, are true of every big newspaper in the country, and the smaller dailies of Georgia and other sections have expenses proportionately as large.

SCHOLARSHIPS AND EXAMI-

The college maintains one hundred and seventy four-year scholarships in the Agricultural and Textile Courses. Each scholarship means $400 to help pay expenses and $160 for tuition apportioned equally over the four years.

Also fifty-two scholarships in the One Year Agricultural Course, these scholarships worth $100 and tuition of $40. The scholarships must be won competitive examinations which are held by each County Superintendent of Education on July 8th. It is worth your while to try for one of these scholarships.

Credit for examinations passed at the county seat will be given to those who are not applying for scholarships but for entrance.

R. O. T. C .- Clemson is a member of the senior division of the Reserve Officers Training Corps. All R. O. T. C. students receive financial assistance from the Federal Government, this reaching about $200 per year during the junior and senior classes.
